

TILLERMAN TEA

Tea Notes March 2009

- March Tea of the Month -

Alishan Oolong

From one of Taiwan's famous tea mountains, this spring harvest oolong has been oxidized slightly then roasted to produce a full-bodied tea. Harvesting only three or four of the tender young leaves near the tip of the branch, the leaves are rolled to create the characteristic "pearl" shape oolong. The additional oxidization and roasting enhances the flavor profile of this tea. Hints of jasmine and gardenia harmonize with nutty vegetal flavors. The buttery mouth feel of this tea is followed by a long sweet aftertaste.

- Tea Appreciation: Traditional Tea Ceremonies -

Come join our Director of Tea Culture and Education, David Wong, for an introduction to the traditional Chinese tea ceremonies. With a tea culture that goes back thousands of years, China has tea ceremonies that are simple and clean to elaborate and formal. What is gongfu tea? What is Yixing tea ware? What type of tea ware is used for these ceremonies? How are they different from the more widely known Japanese tea ceremony? When do the Chinese do tea ceremonies? All these questions will be answered and so much more. This tasting is free so space is limited and on a first come first serve basis. So call in or email us as soon as possible to reserve a spot for this tasting.
